

Gina Bruno, vice president of value-based care at naviHealth, is a member of the 2020 Future Leaders class named by Skilled Nursing News's parent company, Aging Media Network.

SNN's Future Leaders represent some of the most dedicated and innovative young professionals shaping the next generation of post-acute and long-term care. Nominated by their peers, each of our honorees demonstrates a commitment to improving the lives of elders — and making the changes that skilled nursing will need to serve the seniors of tomorrow.

Bruno had a chance to sit down with Skilled Nursing News to discuss her path into the industry, and where she wants to shape senior care in the years to come.

Read the full piece here.