

Geisinger, Mayo Clinic and Dignity Health are among the nearly 1,300 entities that include more than 1,500 Medicare providers and suppliers signing up to take part in the Bundled Payment for Care Improvement Advanced model, CMS announced Tuesday.

Results were seen as better than expected by some industry observers, perhaps in part due to a new opt-out option, new care episode options and rising pressure from non-traditional players into the healthcare space.

Clay Richards, CEO of naviHealth comments on this opt-out option with Healthcare Dive.

Read the full story here.