

Post-acute care management and care transitions company continues to advance solutions for cohesive, senior-centric care coordination

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 22, 2022 – naviHealth, a leading provider in post-acute care management and care transitions, today announced the launch of a new social determinants of health solution for nH Discharge called Community, powered by findhelp.

nH Discharge, the naviHealth discharge planning solution, connects care coordinators to an expansive post-acute care network to improve care transitions with enhanced interoperability and functionality. In partnership with findhelp, Community is a new embedded workflow tool that enhances nH Discharge's existing care coordination support for hospitals and health systems by addressing the influence of social determinants of health on each patient before their discharge. It standardizes and streamlines transitions of care by matching patients with an expansive post-acute network of providers, community programs and services with real-time visibility into a patient's status to track clinical and social care referrals in one place. By expanding beyond care transitions, this new tool further reduces readmissions, eliminates manual workflows with a single platform and enhances patient outcomes.

"As we seek to better incorporate social determinants of health into patient care and transition planning, naviHealth is delighted to offer care coordinators access to community-based services and programs through Community for nH Discharge," said Rob Fisher, vice president & general manager of Software Solutions at naviHealth. "Complete care coordination must consider the whole person, including their environment following a care transition and issues like housing and food insecurity. Community will amplify the value of nH Discharge technology through the integration of social determinants of health, resulting in fewer hospital readmissions, better overall care and improved patient outcomes. Partnering with findhelp, a leader in SDoH, allows us to accelerate the roll-out of these necessary capabilities, leading to better patient outcomes."

naviHealth continues to expand patient navigation tools to improve care transitions and provide a better healthcare experience for seniors. These innovative technological solutions aim to optimize care and serve as a guidepost for the future of senior-centered care.
